“Our company mission is to meet the evolving needs of our trade customers, to help you compete and succeed, and to build profitable, long term business partnerships”

Steve Beahan
Founder and Managing Director

Welcome

Founded in 2002, Invision is Europe’s fastest-growing, value-added distributor of professional technology solutions, supplying custom installers across the UK, Ireland and Benelux.

We stock so you don’t have to! Offering same-day shipment to all UK and European destinations, we are dedicated to providing our trade customers with immediate “one-stop” access to cutting-edge products and intelligent solutions for homes, hotels and business.

With an exceptional portfolio of products from some of the best brands in the industry, our business now spans across multiple market sectors including home cinema, residential/commercial AV, security, hospitality and more.

It’s our goal to make your next job easier! In addition to great products, we provide an unrivalled range of value-added services, including assistance with system design, online ordering 24/7, field-based customer support, installer training, bespoke marketing services and flexible credit terms.

Thank you for your business and continued support.

Why Invision?

TECHNOLOGY SHOWCASE

The must-attend annual event for professional installers

Invision's Technology Showcase returned to Mercedes-Benz World, Weybridge, Surrey in March 2019. Now in its seventh year, this boundary pushing, two-day exhibition showcased recent innovations in custom-installed technology for homes, offices and hotels. With increased floor space to accommodate new brands, we welcomed over 25 suppliers to this year's event, across three industry sectors: residential, commercial and hospitality.

"Our annual showcase is a unique opportunity for our trade customers to spend one-on-one time with our manufacturer partners, get "hands-on" with our new products, hear thought-provoking keynotes from an inspirational speaker line-up and exchange ideas with like-minded installers."

Mark Taylor
Commercial Director

SYSTEM DESIGN

Need help specifying or choosing a product?

Our product specialists and field-based technical sales team are equipped to guide you with pre-sale product selection and system design. We also provide supporting documentation, technical data, drawings and schematics, if required.

"From the most basic home installation through to commercial, hospitality and residential projects, including integrated solutions for audio/video distribution, home cinema, control, automation and security, our specialist team are standing by to help you quote and win business"

Peter Alloway
Head of UK Business Development

TECHNICAL SUPPORT

Value-added services which go the extra mile

We are committed to providing an enhanced "end to end" experience for customers - from initial point of contact through to delivery and successful installation of each product. Our experienced team providing expert installation advice to our trade customers, which we combine with exceptional pre and post-sale technical support across our entire product portfolio.

But it doesn't stop there! Our field-based customer support team can also be called upon to assist you on-site. A range of services are available to give you the peace of mind you require should a problem arise, including assistance with programming, calibration and more.

"The customer's experience is at the forefront of the company's market-leading sales strategy and our reputation is built on a relentless commitment to provide exceptional pre and post-sale customer support – not just on the phone or via email but also on-site."

Ian Mulry
Manager - Customer Support

SAME-DAY SHIPMENT

Matching your needs, exceeding your expectations

Our head office is located in Bury St. Edmunds, Suffolk and is supported by our National Logistics Centre in the West Midlands. For orders placed before 5pm, all products are generally available from stock for immediate same-day shipment to UK and European destinations. Offering a variety of flexible delivery options including drop-ship and timed delivery,, you can be confident that we have a delivery service to suit your business requirements.

"For 17 years, same-day dispatch from our warehouse has been one of the cornerstones of our business. . . .we are dedicated to providing our trade customers with immediate "one-stop" access to our exceptional portfolio of products - this means that we stock so you don't have to!"

Mel Smith-Kerry
Sales Office Manager

CREDIT AND LEASING FINANCE

Your success is our success

If you have credit and cash flow challenges, our finance team can offer advice on the best solution for your business.

"As your business partner, we offer you more than just products! Our experienced team can also help with flexible credit terms and leasing finance to help your company grow."

Hi-Fi

The goal is to reproduce a lifelike experience through sound. If I'm talking to you and you close your eyes, you can hear and gauge how far I am from you. And if I stand and walk around, you can tell where I am, and you will have a sense of how big the room is. So the ultimate goal is that you no longer hear loudspeakers; the walls of the room disappear, and you hear a completely new soundscape as if you were directly in a real situation, and not something that has been recorded and played back. In the end, we hope for users to have a real immersive experience.

“ICE primarily focuses on two main categories — Bulk Cable and HDMI Cables, although we offer a lot more than that. In each of these product categories you’ll notice a consistent theme — superior products with a number of time saving and performance enhancing innovations. The key is that we offer these products for the same or less money than the competition. That’s what ICE is all about; we give you the good stuff for the price of the generic stuff.”
